Frank E. Langley, Publisher.

Published Every Weekday Afternoon.

Entered at the postoffice at Barre as second class matter.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1903.

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

2,900

"Times, of Course"

That's what all the newsboys say when asked which Barre paper sells the best. There is no doubt about it.

The heading in one newspaper yesterday, "Eleven known to be dead," does not refer to a foot ball team, but to an explosion in a coal mine.

Ex-President Grover Cleveland returns from his Virginia hunting trip with 20 ducks. He is more adept at shooting these birds than he is at nailing campaign enemies about his own presidential candidacy.

Here is the editor of the Newport Express and Standard willing to wager "a 1903 potato against a rutabaga turnip" that "off hand" the individuals of Orleans county, not politicians, cannot tell who is the present lieutenant-governor of the state. Such recklessness as this, gentlemen, must cease. A potato against a "rutabaga" turnip is too big odds for the turnip. Besides, it isn't complimentary to the Hon. Zed. But, really, there seems to be need of a trifle of missionary work up in Orleans county.

Since the ballot was extended to the women of Australia an amusing situation has sprung up. In the attempt to proselyte the women voters, the aristocratic and fashionable set inaugurated what they called "political teas." Now the political tea in and of itself would not perhaps be offensive to the poorer and slightly educated women of that country, but a not-over-cautious (or shall we call the not intentional?) newspaper, in reporting one of the "teas" called it a fashionable gathering. It was all off then with the proselyting of voters by that means, as there is in Australia, a dislike of that which savors of the so-called "high society." Had the incontinent newspaper called it a political tea, the aristocratic women would be proselyting still.

Editor Greene of the Rutland Herald, P. W. Clement's newspaper, has been investigating the workings of the license law in Windsor county, during the past week, and the deductions which he draws are interesting. Of course the charge will be made against him that what he writes is from a partisan standpoint, but we believe that he is acting neither as "apologist" nor "panegyrist" for the law, in this investigation. If the law, or parts of the law, has not worked satisfactorily Mr. Greene has not hesitated to say so. Briefly stated, the result of the research in the one county seems to be that the second class license is not working satisfactorily not only in the small towns but in the larger as well; the early workings of the law in many of the towns was accompanied by drinking to excess; that a large amount of this was due to the second class sales; in Cavendish where the commissioners refused to grant licenses the intoxication has increased, although from what source he does not say; the conditions are much better now than when the law became operative and that in many of the towns there is a stronger sentiment toward the enforcement of the liquor law.

In summing up Mr. Greene says: "The novelty is wearing off, drinkers are getting wise, and more people are contributing their moral support toward a proper enforcement of the law than under prohibition." Judge F. A. Walker of Ludlow said: "I think on the whole there is not as much drinking in Ludlow as in former years. It is not as noisy Saturday nights after 10 o'clock as it used to be. The boys do not drink as much. The bottle trade at Tyson has hurt us some, but the town is quieter." Deputy Sheriff Howe of Ludlow said that there is "less drunkenness under license than in former years." It is the conclusion of Mr. Greene that the towns of Windsor county which voted for license this year will do the same next year, and that some of the towns which voted against it will reverse their votes at the next opportunity.

A full line of the delicacies of the season. All the "birds" above the average, but not above the reach. The finest Fall and Winter fruit from the fashion factories.

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

The position of general manager of the Rutland Wrapper and Skirt Co., Rutland, made vacant by the death of A. H. Colvin, has been filled by the appointment of A. B. Alexander of New York city. Mr. Alexander has arrived in Rutland and has assumed the duties of his new position.

Pliny Blanchard, a lumberman of Pownal, met with an accident yesterday. While drawing logs, the binder used to hold the load in place broke and flew back, striking Mr. Blanchard in the jaw, and causing a bad fracture. The fracture was reduced and it is thought that no serious results will arise.

Protective Grange of Brattleboro has again passed Randolph as the banner grange in Vermont and with its membership of 455 is no the second largest grange in the world. The working staff of Protective grange will exemplify the third and fourth degrees at Rutland Dec. 9-11. The annual meeting of the Vermont granges of the district will be held in Brattleboro Dec. 2.

There is some talk that a few taxpayers of St. Albans have got together and discussed the advisability of organizing to contest the assessment of a special tax for the reconstruction of the Elm street school house in that city. Their contention is that the special tax is illegal, that the city cannot lawfully raise more than the charter vote of $2 which the city council is authorized to assess. It is said that these men have practically come to the conclusion to sign an agreement to fight the tax in the courts.

A new industry to be known as the Orleans Boat and Machine Co. is located in West Derby on the site of the old Reed machine shops. A building 35x100 feet and two stories in height is already in process of erection. Two old buildings already on the site, one the machine shop and the other a storehouse, will also be used by the company. The purpose of the firm is to build steam, gasoline, and row boats of all descriptions, and to build engines for both steam and gasoline launches, and to do all kinds of repairing which includes shafting and all other machinery outside the boat business.

POINTS ON PANAMA.

Panama has an acreage of 31,571 square miles—nearly the size of the state of Maine.

Its population is 285,000, almost the same as that of the District of Columbia.

Its commerce, including both imports and exports, amounts to about $3,000,000 a year. That is about $11 for each inhabitant. The rest of Colombia has a foreign trade of less than $1 a head.

Colon and Panama, its principal ports, have mixed populations of 3,000 and 25,000 respectively.

The United States leads all other nations in the amount of its trade with Panama.

A weekly steamer connects Panama with San Francisco.

Cable lines connect both Colon and Panama with the United States.

Between Panama and Colon two passenger trains run daily. Distance, forty-seven miles; time, three hours.

Silver is standard Panama money.

Equal Distribution of Space!

Now Listen to This!

A perfect Shoe should contain not a single particle of space more than necessary, otherwise the Shoe becomes large and ungainly. The Dorothy Dodd Shoe leaves more space for the foot than any other Shoe we know of, yet the Shoe itself is absolutely smaller than the ordinary Shoe. That is because it equally distributes space.
